TO FIGHT THE PARCELS POST

A Scheme in Disguise to Help
The Mail Order Houses.

TO MEET AT NASHVILLE.

Organized Movement to Protect The Interests of Southern Merchants.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 10.—The retail merchant, particularly of the Southern Country, has for some years past recognized the fact that the catalogue mail order houses in the large city is a positive injury both to the merchant and the customer. The situation is succinctly stated in a letter received recently at the headquarters of the Parcels Post Convention or, more accurately speaking, anti-parcels post convention, to be held in Nashville, Feb. 28, March 1, 2 and 3. A merchant in a prosperous Alabama town says, "Our people send their money to the 'cat' houses anywhere from ten to a hundred days in advance, and make us wait anywhere about the same length of time for our money, thus making it doubly hard on us."

There is now pending before Congress a bill providing for the transportation of merchandise through the mails. It is a measure favorable to the catalogue houses in the large cities and detrimental alike to the retailer and the wholesaler who transact business after recognized and established methods. Southern merchants are almost a unit in the belief that a parcels post law would immediately make the mail order business many times over more injurious to legitimate trade than it has been up to this time. In order to protect their own interests, they have prepared for the holding of a great convention in Nashville to crystallize sentiment against the bill and have it presented in concrete form before Congress.

The movement is in the hands of an executive committee of representative retail merchants, with R. L. Burch, of Nashville, as Chairman.

LORIMER SAID TO BE DOOMED

Illinois Boss Must Resign
To Escape Exclusion.

Washington, Feb. 10.—It requires no rare and occult gift of prophecy to foresee that the Senatorial career of William Lorimer, of Illinois, will soon come to a full stop.

With the evidence all in, and the oratory on both sides nearly exhausted, the jury, which in this case is the highest law making body in America, is ready to render its verdict.

Nor will the result even be close judging from all indications. It is doubtful whether Lorimer can command more than one-third of the votes of the body to substantiate his claims to a clear title. On the Democratic side probably six, possibly eight, Senators will vote to uphold Lorimer.

What the Senate intends to do, if it is brought to a vote, is not to expel Senator Lorimer, but to adopt the Beveridge resolution, or one similarly worded, excluding him from the Senate. There is a notable difference between expulsion and exclusion. The former requires a two-thirds' vote. To carry the latter a bare majority suffices. Either separates Lorimer from the Senate and the pay-roll.
